

Automatic Banknote Strapper Julong JL109

The Julong JL109 is designed for bundling banknotes into standard bank packs of 1,000 pieces. The packaging process is fully automated, with banknotes securely strapped both lengthwise and crosswise in a single packing cycle.

This fully automated professional solution is ideal for cash handling operations in bank branches, cash offices, and cash-in-transit services, ensuring efficient preparation of banknotes for transport and storage.

ADVANTAGES

Versatility

The strapper is compatible with banknotes of any size. The menu allows you to set parameters such as the number and denomination of banknotes, and the device automatically adjusts to the specified settings.

High Speed and Efficiency

With three independent strapping mechanisms, the entire banknote bundling process is fully automated. The device securely straps banknotes with three bands (two crosswise and one lengthwise) and seals the bands together for added durability.

Ease of Use

An intuitive menu and a large LCD display make it easy to manage the strapper's settings, monitor all stages of the packaging process, and receive detailed notifications.

Safety

To ensure operator safety, the strapping chamber is equipped with injury-proof protective shutters that close before the cycle begins. The manufacturer and products comply with CE and RoHS standards.
